April Sustainability Workshop Series

The Friends of Straub Environmental Learning Center have partnered with Willamette University's Center for Sustainability for a new series of workshops. Each Tuesday in April, a workshop will be hosted on a different aspect of sustainability and how the consumer can reduce their impact on the planet. All workshops are held at 7:00 PM. They are free and open to the public, and the last one on April 29 requires registration.

April 1, 2008- "Fair Trade for a Fair World"

A workshop offered on the importance of fair trade for a socially sustainable future.

April 8, 2008- "Sustainable Business Practices"

Learn about opportunities for business sustainability from the Marion County Environmental Services and local Salem businesses that have taken steps to become more sustainable.

April 15, 2008- "Household Sustainability"

Make sustainability a part of your everyday life by learning innovative ways to make your home or apartment more environmentally friendly.

April 22, 2008- "Biodiesel Workshop- Large and Small Scale"

Come learn how to become part of the growing effort to utilize post-consumer recycled waste as fuel.

These workshops are held from 7:00 to 8:30 PM at Straub Environmental Learning Center, 1320 A St. NE, next to Olinger Pool, near North Salem High.

April 29, 2008- "Green Cuisine"

Come learn about cooking and eating sustainably from top chefs and local farmers as they explain the basics of "green" cuisine and offer delicious samples of sustainable foods.

Registration is required for this workshop. To register, call 503-391-4145 or email fselc@fselc.org. This workshop will be held at 7:00 PM in the Wilson-Hines Room of Goudy Commons on the Willamette University campus. For a campus map, visit <http://willamette.edu/map/>.
